

Kinnarps Code of Conduct

Introduction

Kinnarps has had its roots in the fertile Swedish countryside since the company was founded by Jarl and Evy Andersson in 1942. From the beginning Kinnarps was a small family owned manufacturer of furniture for offices and has now become Europe's largest provider of workspace interior solutions. High quality and low environmental impact encompass the entire chain – from raw material to finished solutions for the workspace.

KINNARPS BASIC VALUES

Strenuous Rights at Work and labour standards, respect for the environment and social responsibility is a natural part of the Swedish culture. These issues are reflected in the Kinnarps basic values which are important to us and we work systematically to ensure that they are adopted by the whole organisation. Kinnarps basic values are a direct heritage from Kinnarps' founders which colours all our operations – all the way from how we do business to how we interact together:

1.

FORWARD-THINKING SPIRIT AND CREATIVITY

Pursue development and always see opportunities. Be creative, dare to be different and dare to do what nobody else has done before. Work effectively, persevere and always strive to do better.

INDEPENDENCE & EXPERTISE

Trust your own knowledge and skills and believe in the opportunities that present themselves. Perform your work in such a way that you can be proud. Strive after personal development.

3.

HONESTY & HUMILITY

Be open and honest in all communication. Behave respectfully towards all people, regardless of their status or role. Comply with laws and regulations and keep your promises.

RESPONSIBILITY & HOLISTIC THINKING

Take responsibility, be thrifty with resources and carry out operations in such a way that they can be sustained. Go to the source with problems and find out the real needs for a long-term solution. Understand connections, predict consequences, take all aspects into consideration, evaluate and balance.

How Kinnarps fulfil the responsibilities

To ensure that our way of doing business in a responsible manner is maintained in all aspects of the company, we have created the Kinnarps Code of Conduct. Its purpose is to stipulate conditions in the fields of human rights, labour standards, environmental management and anti-corruption criteria to be followed and respected by all persons who work for or in partnership with Kinnarps. In order to ensure that our work with these issues is carried out in an accountable way, Kinnarps has based its Code of Conduct on the United Nations Global Compacts* ten principles. This is done in order to make the commitment clear to employees, suppliers, customers and other stakeholders. The principles are regulated and monitored through our management systems and Kinnarps compliance to the Code of Conduct is monitored through internal auditing and supplier evaluation.

CORPORATE COMPLIANCE

We work in accordance with our basic values and our corporate strategy to protect human rights, promote fair employment and working conditions, to fight corruption and to achieve long term sustainability in our daily operation.

Through this, Kinnarps requires that all its international operational units and employees comply with the Code of Conduct in addition to compliance with all relevant national and international laws, regulations and standards – even if Kinnarps Code of Conduct stipulates a higher standard.

Employees who violate Kinnarps Code of Conduct are subject to disciplinary action. If violations against this Code are reported the person reporting are not to be retaliated in any way for making such a report. In all instances the rights and privacy of both the reporting person and the one accused of violations are to be adequately protected and assured.

KINNARPS SUPPLIER CODE OF CONDUCT

To clarify Kinnarps expectations of responsibility in the supply chain we have created Kinnarps Supplier Code of Conduct. Even if Kinnarps Supplier Code of Conduct stipulates a higher standard than is required by national regulations, laws or standards Kinnarps demands that the supplier respects and comply with the Code. Kinnarps Supplier Code of Conduct is presented in a separate document.

HUMAN RIGHTS

We support and respect the protection of international human rights and will ensure that we are not complicit in human rights abuse.

Employees are free to leave their employment after reasonable notice as required by national law or regulated through contract. No forced, bonded or compulsory labour is used and employees are not required to lodge deposits of money or identity papers as part of their employment.

Employment Conditions

We work to ensure that employees understand their employment conditions. The conditions are based on terms that ensure fair and reasonable pay that comply with national laws or industry standards (whichever is higher) and stipulate minimum wages. Working hours are included in these employment conditions to ensure compliance with national laws and that they are not excessive.

We support the ILO Convention on minimum age and child labour. No person below the minimum legal age is employed, which means the age of completion of compulsory schooling, or no less than 15 years of age. Children, persons below the age of 18, are not employed for hazardous work or work that is incoherent with the child's personal development (health, physical, mental, spiritual, moral and/or social development). All work that is carried out by children (15-18 years) is supported and supervised to ensure the best interest of the child and national law.

Working Conditions

In accordance with international standards and national laws, we provide a safe and healthy working environment for employees. This includes appropriate information and training to employees regarding health and safety. We shall systematically work with occupational health in order to minimize health and safety risks. One part of this is to document, address and follow up incidents in order to decrease the risk for recurrence.

Requirements

ENVIRONMENT

We work with environmental questions within our work for reaching a long-term sustainability. Our efforts are characterized by our view of sustainability, derived from The Natural Steps four system conditions that state;

In the sustainable society, nature is not subject to systematically increasing:

1. Concentrations of substances extracted from the Earth's crust.
2. Concentrations of substances produced by society.
3. Degradation by physical means and, in that society....
4. People are not subject to conditions that systematically undermine their capacity to meet their needs.

This means that the use of finite resources shall be minimized as far as possible. We make this possible by creating smarter and innovative products and processes which means a minimised environmental burden through a lesser use of energy, raw materials, chemicals and water. We take it upon ourselves to ensure that our raw materials are produced in a responsible manner and that we take back any of our products from customers for reuse and recycling whenever this is possible.

ANTI-CORRUPTION

We do not tolerate any form of extortion and/or bribery to or from employees or organisations. This includes improper offers for payment in order to influence any form of business negotiation that includes employees, customers, suppliers or any individual working for, with or on behalf of Kinnarps. Our definition of bribes and corrupt behaviour is based on chapter VII in the OECD's guidelines for multinational corporations. Companies or corporate representatives shall not, direct or indirect, give, offer or provide improper payment or bribe to second party on the premises of gaining improper advantage for own or other parts benefit. Further on, companies or corporate representatives shall not, direct or indirect, accept or demand improper payment, bribe or improper advantage from second party. Employees or individuals working for, with or on behalf of Kinnarps shall avoid conflict of interest in relation to employee, relative, existing or potential business partner or other stakeholder where such conflict of interest can compromise the credibility in Kinnarps or is in conflict with Kinnarps business interests.
